THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

STATE OF COLORADO, }
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT. }

By the Governor

The president of the United States has designated Thursday, November 25, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. The people of Colorado have abundant cause to be grateful for the many evidences of divine blessings vouchsafed them during the past year, and it is eminently proper that they should give expression to their appreciation of such blessings in a fitting manner.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin H. Eaton, governor of the state of Colorado, do hereby issue my proclamation setting apart Thursday, the 25th day of November, 1886, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer and earnestly recommend that the people of this state meet at their usual places of public worship and give thanks to the Great Giver of so many blessings.

Let all who are able make the day remembered by the poor and distressed on account of your generosity. Spread the mantle of charity far and wide, that all may have cause to rejoice in Thanksgiving day.

Done at Denver, the capital, this 10th day of November, A. D., 1886.

By the governor BENJ. H. EATON.
MELVIN EDWARDS,
Secretary of State.

Person C. Cheney, who will sit in the United States senate during the coming session of congress in the place of the late Austin F. Pike of New Hampshire, was elected governor of that state in 1875 and '76.

Ex-President Arthur's estate is estimated at a quarter of a million. All this and perhaps more he had when he entered the White house. His was a social administration and he spent a small fortune on his table. His receipts from his law practice in the last two years have amounted to about $12,000 per annum.

The accounts of Reed, the defaulting treasurer of a Boston street railroad, show that his peculations will reach a quarter of a million. Haste to get rich induced him to use the company's funds for private speculation. The Boston record for the year has not been calculated to increase confidence in men who hold positions of trust.

The commissioners of the District of Columbia have added the final chapter to the police scandal in Washington. The chief of police is allowed to resign, while Lieut. Arnold, who objected to the chief's orders to spy upon congressmen, is dismissed. His punishment looks like revenge for having given the facts to the public. The chief's downfall was necessary to save the commissioners' necks.

Henry Bergh says when he first began the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals movement the only gifts he received came in one and five-dollar lots. Later on hundred dollar checks began to take away his breath, but now fortunes that his way and are guided into the secretary's exchequer without excitement. Indirectly his efforts have led to other benefits. The success of his society suggested the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which has done good work in the large cities. We are progressing and before long man may rank with the mule in his ability to elicit sympathy with the charitably inclined.

Colonel Ingersoll declared that he favored the election of Henry George as mayor of New York, and that he agreed with the "anarchist in his ideas as to the nationalization of land." This indicates that Ingersoll has made a study of his famous holdings of land recently. At the free thinkers' congress in New York he declared that "no man has a right to own more land than he can use." Yet it is not long since he possessed 11,000 acres in Louisiana and a large slice of the Dorsey ranch in New Mexico which is as large as the state of Connecticut. Apart from the sin of having too much land, thereby depriving others of the ability to secure enough, Colonel Ingersoll at one time held land which fraudulently passed from the government. Official investigation of the manner of acquiring the Dorsey ranch conclusively showed that much of it was taken up by straw men who never resided on the claims and were wholly unknown. It is cause for public congratulation that honest acquisition of public land has gained such an eloquent advocate.

[illegible] Thanksgiving proclamation [illegible] "Thanks should be offered to Almighty God for the benefits which for [illegible] have received at His hands. At the close of the war the country became entirely united, and today people of the north and of the south of the east and the west lift their voices in one mighty acclaim of thanksgiving to the guardian and ruler of nations. No doubt formal thanks should distinguish the giving of our thanks, for there is not a single individual throughout this broad land who has not received some thing for which he should be thankful. As a nation we have been bountifully blessed. Famine and pestilence have not existed in our borders, and we can point to no serious disturbance which has threatened the peace and security of our government. The development of our immense natural resources has gone hand in hand with the development of man's inventive genius to apply those resources in the best possible manner to the needs and wants of our citizens. Our educational interests have kept rapid pace with our country's growth and advancement. Bounteous harvests have been garnered in every section of the country and disasters by land or sea have been few and infrequent. The Charleston earthquake, it is true, was a national calamity, but the [illegible] of generosity which it inspired and the obliteration of sectional feeling which it caused may be said to have fully compensated for the loss which that community sustained. The value of these deeds of kindness, and the elimination of all sectional feeling cannot be estimated nor are there any sure means of comparison by which an estimate of their value can be obtained. Time alone will show the powerful part they bore in the breaking-down of the last vestige of the barriers which once existed between citizens of a common country. In our rendering of thanks for personal blessings let us not forget those to whom, perhaps, the past year may have been one of sorrow and misfortune, but by expressions of sympathy, by friendly solicitude and by deeds of charity and generosity let us inspire feelings of gratitude and thankfulness in those to whom the past year may have given seemingly very little occasion for the manifestation and expression of those feelings."

COMMON SENSE

Xmas Presents

Persons in thinking over what they shall buy for Christmas presents should bear in mind that there is no thing that would be more sensible or better appreciated by a man or boy than a nice article of wearing apparel. A suit of clothes, overcoat, shoes or a hat from a nice hatter or tailor would be very appreciated, or a dressing gown, silk handkerchiefs, neckwear or gloves from a young lady to her father or sweetheart would be very appropriate. We have all these things ready for the holidays.

Our system of filling orders by mail is so perfect that our dealings with out of town customers are as satisfactory as if in person. [illegible]

'THE IDEAL MAGAZINE'

for young people is what the papers call ST. NICHOLAS. Do you know about it—how good it is, how clean and pure and helpful? If there are any boys or girls in your house will you not try a number, or try it for a year, and see if it isn't just the element you need in the household? The London Times has said: 'We have nothing like it on this side.' Here are some of the leading features of

Stories by Louisa M. Alcott and Frank R. Stockton—several by each author.

A short serial story by Mrs. Burnett, whose charming 'Little Lord Fauntleroy' has been a great feature in the past year of St. Nicholas.

War stories for boys and girls. General Badeau, chief of staff, biographer, and confidential friend of General Grant, and one of the ablest and most popular of living military writers, will contribute a number of papers describing in clear and vivid style some of the leading battles of the civil war. They will be panoramic descriptions of single contests or short campaigns, presenting a series of literary picture gallery of the grand and heroic epoch in which the parents of many a boy and girl of to-day took part.

The Serial Stories include [illegible] an admiral's [illegible] life, by Francis Courtenay Baylor, author of 'On Board a Steamer,' also 'Jerry's Boarding House,' by Laura Ogle, a story of life in a great city.

Short articles in each of the departments will abound. Among these are 'How a Great Piano Is Made,' by Theodore R. Davis, with profuse illustrations; 'Winning a Commission' (Naval Academy) and 'Jack of Lectures of the Naval Academy.' Articles for Oil and 'Among the Gas Wells,' with a number of striking pictures. Child Sketches from George Eliot, by Julia Magruder; 'Victor Hugo's Tales to his Grandchildren,' recounted by Brander Matthews; 'Historic Girls,' by L. S. Brooks. Also interesting contributions from Nora Perry, Harriet Prescott Spofford, Juanita Miller, H. H. Boyesen, Washington Gladden, Alice Wellington Rollins, J. T. Trowbridge, Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka, Noah Brooks, Grace Denio Litchfield, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, Mrs. S. M. Emery, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others.

The subscription price of St. Nicholas is $3.00 a year; 25 cents a number. Subscriptions are received by booksellers and newsdealers everywhere, and by the publishers. New volume begins with the November number. Send for an elegantly illustrated catalogue (free), containing full prospectus, etc., etc.

HELD UP.

Two Men Hold Up Mr. J. W. Chapman Tuesday Evening.

On Tuesday evening Mr. J. W. Chapman attended the meeting of the Grand Army post and at its conclusion accompanied Sheriff Dana as far as the latter's residence, which is just above the new Fourth ward school house on Cascade avenue. Mr. Chapman had hardly reached the school house when two men rushed out in front of him, and in the stereotyped phrase demanded "his money or his life." One of the parties was quite tall and the other was of somewhat slender and smaller build. To their demand for his money, Mr. Chapman replied that he had no money on his person, which answer apparently enraged the men, the latter of whom immediately struck at Mr. Chapman, stating at the same time that they would take his life. The smaller of the two men, as soon as the assault commenced, went behind him and endeavored to assist his confederate. Mr. Chapman being thus placed at a disadvantage and being unable to cope with the two men, called for assistance, which quickly came in the person of Sheriff Dana. When he arrived upon the scene Mr. Chapman was apparently getting the worst of it, but as soon as they discovered Mr. Dana's presence they ran away and managed to effect their escape. Beyond a few scratches Mr. Chapman sustained little or no injury, though if assistance had not reached him just when it did, the affair might have resulted more seriously as far as he was concerned. It is not known who the parties were who committed the assault, but they were no doubt some of the suspicious characters who have been in the city for some time. Mr. Chapman was on the police force a year or two ago and is at present in the service of the city in the street and ditch department. We are advised by the city marshal that there are quite a number of rough characters in town, who, judging by their general appearance, would be capable of perpetrating almost any crime.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, November 24.—Money on call easy at 3½ to 7, closing 4 asked; prime paper 6@8; sterling exchange dull and steady, $4.87 for 60 day bills, $4.88 for demand; government bonds were dull and firm. The coming holiday restricted business and tended to depress the prices of stocks. There was increased selling of St. Paul owing to unfavorable showing of earnings for the last week. Market generally were dull. The opening was generally steady, first prices showing changes from 1@1 evening's final prices, of from ⅛ to ¼ only. The market was weak in early trading, and many material declines were established. In the last half hour a partial rally was noticed marked by decrease in the amount of business done. There was little movement in prices after noon until the last hour, though the market ranged throughout the day. A short rally in the last thirty minutes placed the market later at something less than the lowest prices of the day. Various arrests have been made and arms destined for the revolutionist have been seized. The government has taken energetic means to maintain peace.

Commissions to Agents.

CHICAGO, November 24.—Pacific coast and eastern passenger agents after spending the day in futile wrangling over settlement of the commission business appointed a committee of five this evening to arrange an agreement for the maintenance of rates. The committee consists of Messrs. Deathery, Whitney, Morse, Smith and White. They are under instructions to report to-morrow.

Our Mexican Minister.

WASHINGTON, November 24.—At the state department nothing is known beyond what has appeared in the newspapers with regard to reports from the City of Mexico charging Minister Manning with grave indiscretion. Not much importance is attached to the reports, which are believed to be highly exaggerated. The department authority is doubtful of the statement that Minister Manning has sent a cable dispatch in reference to the alleged scandal.

Washington's Police.

WASHINGTON, November 24.—The district commissioners after noon announced their decision in the matter of the Washington police investigation. Major Walker, chief of police, is allowed to resign. Lieutenant Arnold is dismissed. Lieutenant Kelly is reprimanded and suspended for three months without pay. Sergeant Diggins is reprimanded and reduced to the rank for three months and Private Edelin is dismissed.

Transferred to Turkey.

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 24.—General Kambars will instruct Nelidoff, Russian ambassador here, in all the details of the Bulgarian situation and will guide him in regard to the election of a new prince of Bulgaria. Nelidoff has not yet received authority from his government to raise the question of the eventual Russian occupation of Bulgaria. The Turkish governor continues to send war material to Adrianople and to strengthen the fortifications of the Dardanelles.

Seven Indians Drowned.

ELLSWORTH, Dak., November 24.—It is reported here that seven Indians, Big Thunder, the Crow chief, among the number, were drowned while attempting to cross the Missouri river at a point about ten miles north of here. Big Thunder was one of the most famous chiefs of the Crow nation and his son White Lance is said to have been with the party which the accident occurred. The Indians were crossing to join a band of their tribe which started out to wreak vengeance on the Sioux who killed a number of Crows several days ago. There are reports that several Indians at Sims were frozen during the blizzard.

Business Failures.

NEW YORK, November 24.—Near the close of business at the stock exchange today, B. A. Hall, New York member of the Boston firm of F. B. Morse & Co., sent in notice announcing the failure of his firm. Hall could not be found at his office, but his representatives they said the failure was caused by the discovery of irregularities by the senior member in Boston.

H. Kellogg Baker and Charles Clark, composing the firm of Baker & Clark, wholesale grocers of 357 Greenwich street, have made assignment with preferences amounting to $185,000.

Fred Archer's Queer Legs.

Chicago Herald

"The most peculiar thing I ever noticed about Jockey Fred Archer," said an old English sport yesterday, "was the deliberation with which he settled himself in the saddle. It rarely took him less than five minutes to get into his position, but when he did get settled the [illegible] on the continent that could shake Archer had peculiar legs. They were abnormally long from the knee to the ankle, and wonderfully [illegible]. Thus legs stood Archer in good stead [illegible]. With his knees almost [illegible] sides of his saddle he could [illegible] from the stirrups, and curling the portion of his legs below the knee back upon the flanks of his nag, take the lead with his steeds. Archer was the only jockey in the world who could perform this feat. It was seldom that he chose to do it, but when he did you could rest assured that the race was for blood.

"The dead jockey won many a hard-fought battle in this manner. I have seen his feet suddenly leave the stirrups when he was hard pressed near the judges' stand, and then watched his horse spring to the front as the glittering steel on the wiry legs of his rider sank deep into the flank. No, sir; Archer didn't seem to have a bow in his legs from the knee down. They were supple as willow twigs."

The first ball of the season will be given this evening at the city hall under the auspices of the First Separate Troop Cavalry.

Today being a legal holiday the post office will observe Sunday hours, the banks will be closed and there will be no issue of the GAZETTE to-morrow.

Mr. C. E. Aiken has made ample preparations to meet the holiday trade, and has made large additions to his stock of novelties and natural curiosities.

Professor Thorem will give an organ recital to children only to-morrow afternoon at the Presbyterian church commencing at two o'clock.

The First Separate Troop Cavalry will meet this morning at nine o'clock at headquarters. They will proceed to the range west of the Monument when the regular semi-annual shoot will occur.

There will be a Thanksgiving service and sermon at Grace church this morning at 11 o'clock. The offering will be given to the Organ Relief association of which Mrs. H. Lee Woolf is president.

The ladies of the Congregational church will give a sociable to-morrow evening at the church. The public are cordially invited to attend. A musical and literary programme will be presented.

A subpoena has been served upon one of our prominent business men citing him to appear before the police magistrate and answer to the charge of violating the city ordinance with reference to the depositing of ashes.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Methodist church is making extensive preparations for their social and candy pull to be given to-morrow evening in the Murphy and Florence building a few doors below the postoffice. Prices only will be charged for candy to pull. The building will be open for the children to-morrow afternoon.

Messrs. W. H. and H. F. Sterling have purchased Mr. Hysell's interest and now own the entire Hysell ranch in Cheyenne. Mr. F. S. Buckman has bought of the Messrs. Sterling the timber on the ranch, and is sawing and shipping from ten to fifteen thousand feet of lumber daily.

There will be union Thanksgiving services this morning at the Methodist church commencing at 11 o'clock. Rev. A. C. Peck, pastor of the church, will preside and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. George E. Merrill, pastor of the Baptist church. A collection for the benefit of the Union Relief association will be taken up.

Within the next week Manager Nye has closed contracts with several very strong attractions to appear in the opera house. The season will open Saturday, December 11th, with the spectacular production ("Clio" to be followed by Effie Ellsler in her new play "Woman Against Woman," Lewis Morrison in Henry Irving's dramatization of the opera "Faust," Mr and Mrs. W. J. Florence, "Called Back," the Hanlons in "Fantasma," Lotta, Rice's "Evangeline," Louis James, Janish, Eli Perkins, "Dollars and Hearts," Roland Reed, Frank Mayo, Patti Rosa and others.

The Union Relief association, for the benefit of which offerings will be received to-day at both Greek church and the union services is composed of ladies representing the various religious organizations in the city. Its principal object is to minister to the wants of those in destitute circumstances who are not connected with any particular church or association. This association has done a good work in the past owing to a great measure to the judicious manner in which the funds placed at its disposal have been expended. The members of the association expect liberal offerings at both services and they should not be disappointed.

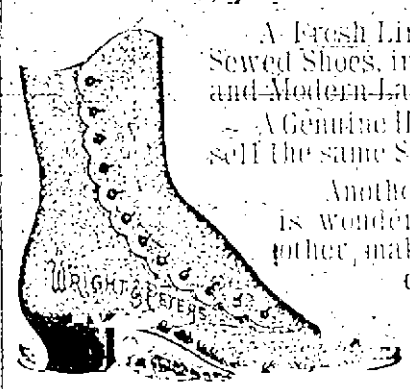
I AM TALKING NOW!



A Fresh Line of WRIGHT & Peters' Hand-Sewed Shoes, in Kid and Goat. Common Sense and Modern Lasts.

A Genuine Hand-Sewed Shoe for $5.00. They sell the same Shoe in Denver for $6.00.

Another lot of TURNER'S Shoes. It is wonderful how fast they sell. All other makes are nowhere. I warrant every pair.

I have Boots cheap in price for the quality, and, except the celebrated Bowers Shoes, which I do not buy, will not buy price. I warrant all I sell.

SPECIAL SALE

WALL PAPERS.

Our spring stock of Wall Paper for 1886 is now arriving, and as we offered our Special Sale for 30 days, we shall give our customers the benefit of these New Styles at the same prices, namely:

Hand-made Embossed Gold, 35c, formerly $1.00 to $1.25.
Gilts, 32½c and upwards, formerly 55 to 65c.
Mica, 30c, formerly 40c.
Flats, 20c, formerly 25 to 35c.
White Chinks, 12½c and 15c, formerly 15 to 20c.
Brown Chinks, 10c and upwards, formerly 12½ to 15c.

To those who have never bought Wall Paper from us before we would advise them to call and see for themselves, for having just returned from the Wall Paper Market in the East, we find say that we have many of the latest and most elegant designs that have been manufactured, and as we employ none but first-class help you can depend upon it that our work will not be cut and hacked up by Bilk inferior jobbers unless to work for us. Yours, respectfully,
